Location Intelligence in Financial Services

▶ Harness the power of geospatial analytics

Building on the success of our global portfolio of virtual and in-person conferences, we are excited to present Location Intelligence in Financial Services on July 16th, 2025—a must-attend event for financial leaders, data strategists, and risk management professionals looking to harness the power of geospatial analytics.

With location intelligence revolutionizing fraud detection, operational efficiency, and customer engagement, financial institutions must also address challenges around data privacy, ethical considerations, and regulatory compliance. This summit will explore how banks, insurers, and fintechs are leveraging geospatial data to drive smarter decision-making, mitigate risks, and enhance customer experiences.

◆ Why Attend?

- Exclusive Insights from Industry Leaders – Hear from C-level executives, regulators, and location intelligence experts on the latest innovations transforming financial services.
- Practical Strategies for Risk Management & Fraud Detection – Learn how geospatial analytics is enhancing credit risk assessments, AML compliance, and real-time fraud prevention.
- Customer-Centric Personalization & Market Expansion – Discover how financial institutions are using location data to optimize customer engagement, tailor offerings, and expand into new markets.
- Regulatory & Ethical Considerations – Stay ahead of emerging regulations and best practices for responsible data collection, privacy protection, and compliance in location-based financial services.
- Interactive & Engaging Format – Participate in live discussions, expert panels, and networking sessions with financial leaders shaping the future of location intelligence.

This virtual summit offers a unique opportunity to connect with global financial executives in an accessible, flexible format—ensuring valuable insights and engagement without the need for travel.

Join us as we bring together financial regulators, data strategists, and industry leaders to explore the next frontier of location intelligence in financial services!
